TWO SENSATIONS OF ELECTION.

Norman Mack, national chairman, voted a Republican ticket through mistake. Poll holders wouldn't allow him to change it.

Roosevelt's own precinct at Oyster Bay went for Dix, Democratic governor-elect of New York.

MUCH SPACE TO ELECTION

We give much of our space today to the election returns believing that the people want a full account, and especially so since it happens only once every two years.

NOTES

John Worth Kern, who ran for vice president on the democratic ticket in 1908, will succeed Beveridge (Rep.) as United States Senator.

The democratic majority in the state of North Carolina will be from 40,000 to 45,000, an exceedingly large majority for an off year.

Davidson county—County democratic with the exception of Sheriff, Register of Deeds, although few other offices are in doubt.

Randolph county—Safely democratic, electing all county officers by something like 200 majority.

Blair carried Forsyth by 150 but democrat sheriff was elected, two democratic representatives in house and majority of board of county commissioners.

Rockingham and Alamance swung in the democratic column.

Guilford county gave a democratic majority of 1,500.

Rowan county gave a big democratic majority.

Never since 1892 has the nation witnessed such a tidal wave as swept it Tuesday. From Maine to California democratic gains have been registered, and in New York Roosevelt's candidate (Stimson) went down in bitter defeat for governor Dix, (Dem.) majority is now estimated at 60,000, reversing a republican majority of 80,000 in 1908.

Theodore Roosevelt, the king pin of republicanism, who so far injected his own personality into the campaign in several northern states, as to become the paramount issue, was completely dethroned. His home precinct, the far famed Oyster Bay gave Dix, democrat, a majority of 204, against a republican majority of 793 for Hughes in 1908. His candidate, Henry L. Stimson, said of his defeat last night:

"There seems to be a ground swell all over the country, and I was caught in it. I think it is only the beginning. We're beginning to have a realignment of political parties and the republican party is undergoing the agony of becoming progressive. The returns speak for themselves."

IN HIGH POINT

We haven't room for detailed vote but the democratic majorities averaged 190. J. Ed. Kirkman, for the House, led the ticket. Every democrat on the ticket was elected, even including Capt. W. E. Johns, Sr., for Justice of the Peace, who does not live here now, although his name went before the primaries and consequently had to be voted on. This shows that the democrats were thoroughly united in High Point.

NOW FOR THE NOW COUNTY

Let Us All Pull Together for It and Make It an Assured Fact.

After a little let up for various good reasons The Review is renewing its efforts towards securing a new county for High Point and hereby enlist the co-operation of every one who has the interest of High Point and the adjacent territory at heart. Let us go to work and quietly but surely and show the people effected what a great thing it would be for them. Let all join hands in the movement—there is glory enough for all—and no one can take all the glory. The Review has been working up sentiment since its establishment two years ago. We believe in the advisability of the project, the justness of it, and with our heart and mind fixed on the goal expect to push the project forward, with the help of all, to victory.

High Point as the capital of a new county is the thing—there is plenty of good surrounding territory to locate a fine county with High Point the center and capital.

There is not a business here but what it would help; the merchants, the business houses, the laborers, the bankers, the newspapers, in fact every business, and it would be a far greater help to our rural friends living in the surrounding territory. It would be closer to their court house, they could find a better market for their wares, conveniences would be made for their comfort, they could come to town, transact their legal as well as other business and return home in an hour or so—in fact the many good things in their favor cannot be estimated.

Think it over, gentlemen.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION

President Taft issued same before election. It is as follows:

"This year of 1910 is drawing to a close. The records of population and harvests which are the index of progress show vigorous national growth and the health and prosperity well being of our communities throughout the land and in our possessions beyond the seas. These blessings have not descended upon us in restricted measure, but overflow and abound. They are the blessings and bounty of God.

"We continue to be at peace with the rest of the world. In all essential matters our relations with our peoples are harmonious, with an ever growing reality of friendliness and depth of recognition of mutual dependence. It is especially to be noted that during the past year great progress has been achieved in the cause of arbitration and the peaceful settlement of international disputes.

"Now, therefore, I William Howard Taft, President of the United States of America, in accordance with the wise custom of the civil magistrate since the first settlement in this land, and with the rule established from the foundation of this government, do appropriate Thursday, November 24, 1910, as a day of national thanksgiving and prayer, enjoining the people upon that day to meet in their churches for the praise of the Almighty God and to return heartfelt thanks to Him for all His goodness and loving kindness.

"In witness thereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done at the City of Washington this fifth day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand and ten, and of the independence of the United States, the one hundred and thirty-fifth.

(Seal.)

WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT.

By the President:

ALEVY A. ADEE,

Acting Secretary of State."

THE REVIEW'S ELECTION RETURNS.

By Use of Stereopticon and 281 slides the News from all Over the United States was Thrown on Canvass Every Minute Tuesday Night—Something New for High Point—An Appreciative People.

Tuesday night, The Review gave the news from the election to the people of High Point in a unique way. By the aid of the stereopticon the news was thrown on canvass in front of The Review office every minute or so and the people could read and see for themselves, quite an improvement over the old way of reading out the messages which as a rule cannot be understood or taken in by half the audience.

The Review is always looking out for the best and we think this innovation proved that. Across Broad street hung a large white canvass, in The Review office was stationed the stereopticon machine in charge of Mr. W. C. Koontz. Behind the machine stood the editor rapidly transferring the news from the paper to the glass for use in the machine. At the phone stood an operator getting news from every direction and at the polling places here, in Greensboro, Thomasville, Lexington, Ashboro, Randleman, Archdale, Trinity, Jamestown, and other places The Review had correspondents stationed to send in the news. The Review prides itself on the fact that we got the bulletins before the people first—they read them on the canvass a half minute after they came from the wires. In four and one-half hours we used 281 plates, which is more than an average of one a minute, so you see we kept things lively.

We had many calls over the phone that night for the news which was instantly given with pleasure and in other ways tried our best to give the most accurate news at the earliest time possible. We leave it to the judgment of the public as to whether or not we made good.

To all those who assisted us in making the event such a big success we extend our heartiest thanks.
